

ABSTRACT

Translator's Procrastination at Work (January 2024)

Kartika Ramadhany Rachmah., Universitas Ma Chung;

Advisor: F.X Dono Sunardi, M.A

The objectives of this final report are to describe (1) the activities carried out during the internship in TranslationLinker from August 7th to December 6th, 2023; (2) some examples of the text translated during the internship; (3) the problems that occurred during the internship and how to overcome them.

There were several activities carried out during the internship. The main activity was translating texts. We translated several texts, such as general texts, game promotional texts, marketing texts, and UI/UX templates. The additional activities that we did were some hard skills training like understanding the PUEBI (Pedoman Umum Ejaan Bahasa Indonesia), typing skills training, subtitling training, and translating a song. There were main problems during the internship, mainly talked about procrastination that occurs during work hours. These problems could be handled with some solutions.

Key Words: Procrastination