

ABSTRACT

The Important Role of Teachers and Parents in Monitoring Children's Learning Either at Home or at School

Steven Iskandar., Ma Chung University

Advisor: Prof. Dr. Patrisius Istiarto Djiwandono

This internship report explores language education especially in the form of English. With the increasing significance of education today, collaboration between teachers and parents is key to ensuring children's optimal development. The target of this internship for the author is to improve speaking skills, deliver the material well, and practice patience in teaching practice. these are some questions that will support the internship to apply the author's skills in teaching: 1) how to deliver the material to the students? 2) how to make language lessons fun for students? 3) how to control emotions in teaching? to answer these questions, the author entered the internship program at MI Wahid Hasyim 02 Dau for four months. During the internship, the author has been able to implement the basics of teaching, starting from the use of language, ways for students to understand a material, ways for students to practice speaking English, and preparing some mini games so as not to make students bored. The writer has completed several tasks, such as correcting assignments, giving practice questions, and making exam questions. at the end of this paper, the writer also provides conclusions and suggestions for the school. this paper reports that a) the writer has successfully followed the basic teaching, b) the writer can adapt to students, teachers, and the internship environment, c) the writer can improve how to teach students.

Keywords: Children's Learning, English Lesson, Language, Teaching,