ABSTRACT

The writer's background that makes him do this non-thesis project is his desire to choose his own path in life and not following what his parents has told him to do, because it will not make someone happy if people always do what their parents told them to do. So, the writer decides to create a non-thesis final project in a form of short story to convey his thought about freedom to the reader. The writer makes the story about freedom and presented it in a Middle Ages era where the main character wishes to freely explore the world and see many new things on his own, because he does not wish to be a king and live inside the castle for life, he wishes to have his own freedom to choose what he wants to do in his life.
